Gameday Activities <http://gameday.12thman.com/atoz.html>

Aggie Fan Zone: Opens 3 1/2 hours prior to kickoff at home games and features food, fun and more for the entire family.

Corps March-In: All 2,400+ members of the Corps of Cadets, in formation, step off one hour and 30 minutes before kickoff. With crowds of spectators on either side, they march from the Quad to the Fan Zone, entering the stadium one hour before kickoff.

Team Spirit Walk: Dressed in their maroon and white best, the entire Fightin' Texas Aggie Football team will parade down Houston street with the Aggie Band and Yell Leaders en route to their locker room. The team buses will drop-off on the north end of Houston Street (near the War Hymn statue & Koldus parking garage) 2 hours & 15 minutes prior to kickoff. Fans are encouraged to line the parade route and yell on the Aggies as they make their way to the locker room for the game. Front row fans may even snag a high five from their favorite student-athlete. O

Kids Yell Practice: Join Texas A&M University Yell Leaders at the Way Hymn statue on the East side of Kyle Field (outside entry 8 off Houston Street) for a special yell practice for you and the kids to learn & practice the gameday Aggie Yells. Kids' Yell Practice begins 2.5 hours prior to kickoff, just before the Football Team Spirit Walk down Houston Street.

Tailgating Info <http://gameday.12thman.com/tailgate.html>

With the 2.5-year transformation nearly complete, a new online reservation system is being announced for Aggie Park on game-days: No longer will the area be part of the "land rush" in which fans — responding to a bullhorn sounding at noon a day before the big game — take off running in a competition to claim a prime spot to pitch their tents.

Instead, all tailgating in Aggie Park — both free and paid — will require making reservations through the tailgating vendor, Revel XP. This change is expected to make it more convenient for fans and offer out-of-town Aggies equal access to choice spots.

NOTE: All tailgating in Aggie Park, both free and paid, will require a reservation. Paid reservations may be made by contacting Revel XP at 979-775-1700 or by visiting Revel XP Tailgating. Direct questions and feedback to 979-862-7547.
